THE STAFF OF 1948 presents

THE CLARION

Volume XX

UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL
Normal, Illinois

DEDICATION

Miss Mary Webb

Because of Miss Webb's untiring efforts, her genuine interest in us, and her expert guidance in charting our course throughout our four years, we have achieved a sense of responsibility and a spirit of cooperation. With this feeling in our hearts, we face the world with a willingness to serve and a brighter outlook for the future. Thus we dedicate this yearbook to Miss Mary D. Webb, advisor of the class of '48.

IN RECOGNITION OF

U. High would never be the same without them. Think how dull our classes would be without the spice and variety which their very presence adds. But then dawns the glorious day when they step before us and launch their "happy" days as teachers. And added to the pleasure of this day are the trials and tribulations of such a career! Whom are we talking about? Why, student teachers, of course. Seriously though, they're really "swell" people and are truly an inspiration to us. So, as you leave, student teachers, here's wishing you the best of luck throughout the years.

PRESIDENT OF I.S.N.U.

President R. W. Fairchild

Although ill during part of the year, Dr. Fairchild did his usual effective job of directing the affairs of I. S. N. U. Through his efforts we have gained many cherished privileges and opportunities.

Again

it's Clarion

time, and this year we've planned something different. As you know, life is just one big journey, and we feel one of the most pleasant pontions to carry you through the various phases

let us turn

OFFICE STAFF

Mr. H. D. Lovelass

If there is one person who really seems to enjoy his work at U. High, it's Dr. V. M. Houston. As principal, he is constantly working for the betterment of the school, and is always courteous and pleasant when he is working with the students. Everyone knows that Dr. Houston's office is one of the busiest places in the school, because he is never too busy to talk with anyone. We are proud to be associated with such an understanding person.

"What can I do for you?"

This cheery question greeted you as you stepped into the office of Mr. Lovelass, Assistant Principal. This is just one of the many ways in which he expressed his willingness to help students.

Not only has Mr. Lovelass proved himself valuable in assisting Dr. Houston and the students of U. High, but also he is an excellent teacher.

Although Mr. Lovelass was new in this position, he has become a well-known figure about school.

With the able assistance of the office staff, U. High continued to run smoothly. They deserve our thanks and wholehearted cooperation in the future.

Dr. Houston, Mrs. Smith, Miss Hari, Mr. Lovelass, Miss Pulaski

Mrs. Mae C. Warren

"How soon do I have to register for college?" asks the tall senior

"I know I'm late, but . . ." explains the snubnosed freshman.

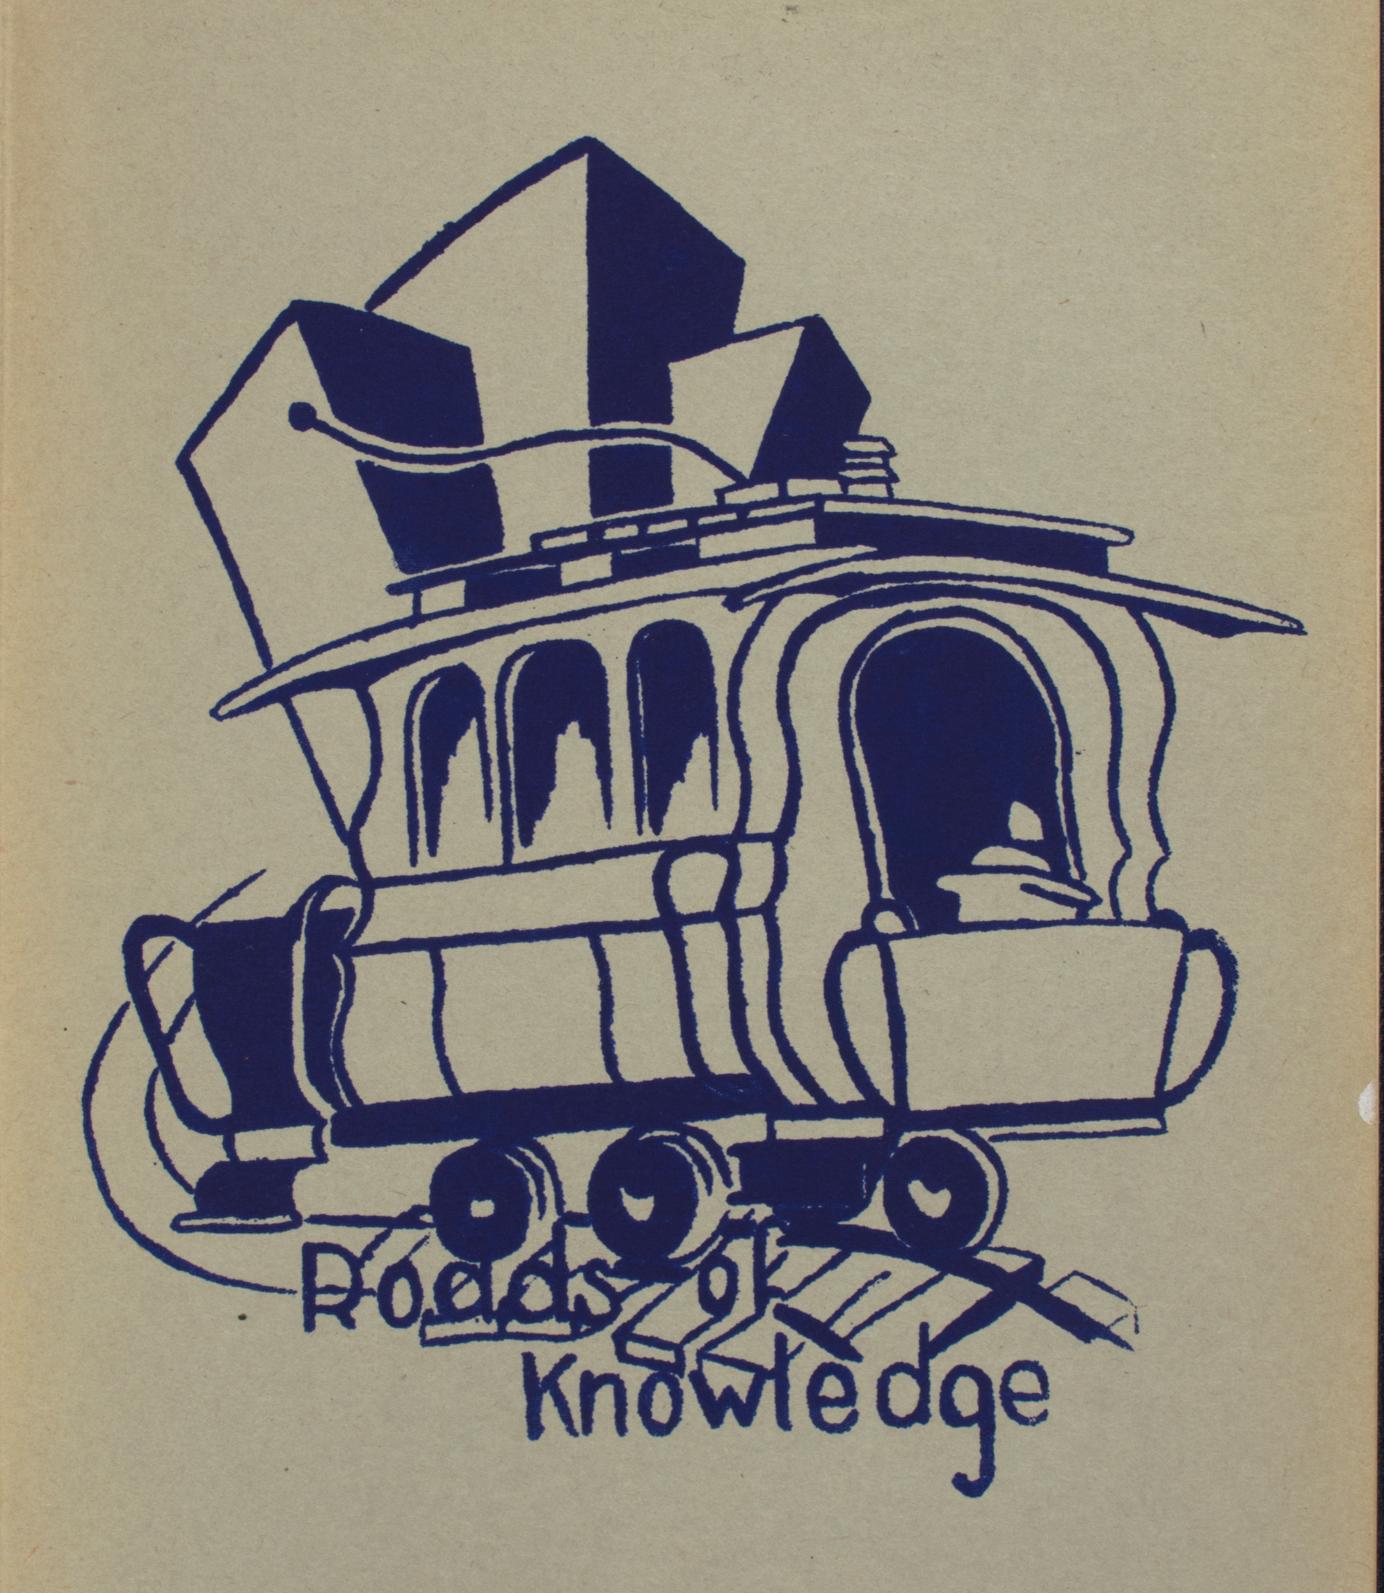

"May we use your room for a tea? We'll be sure to clean up when we're through." The sophomore is very persistent.

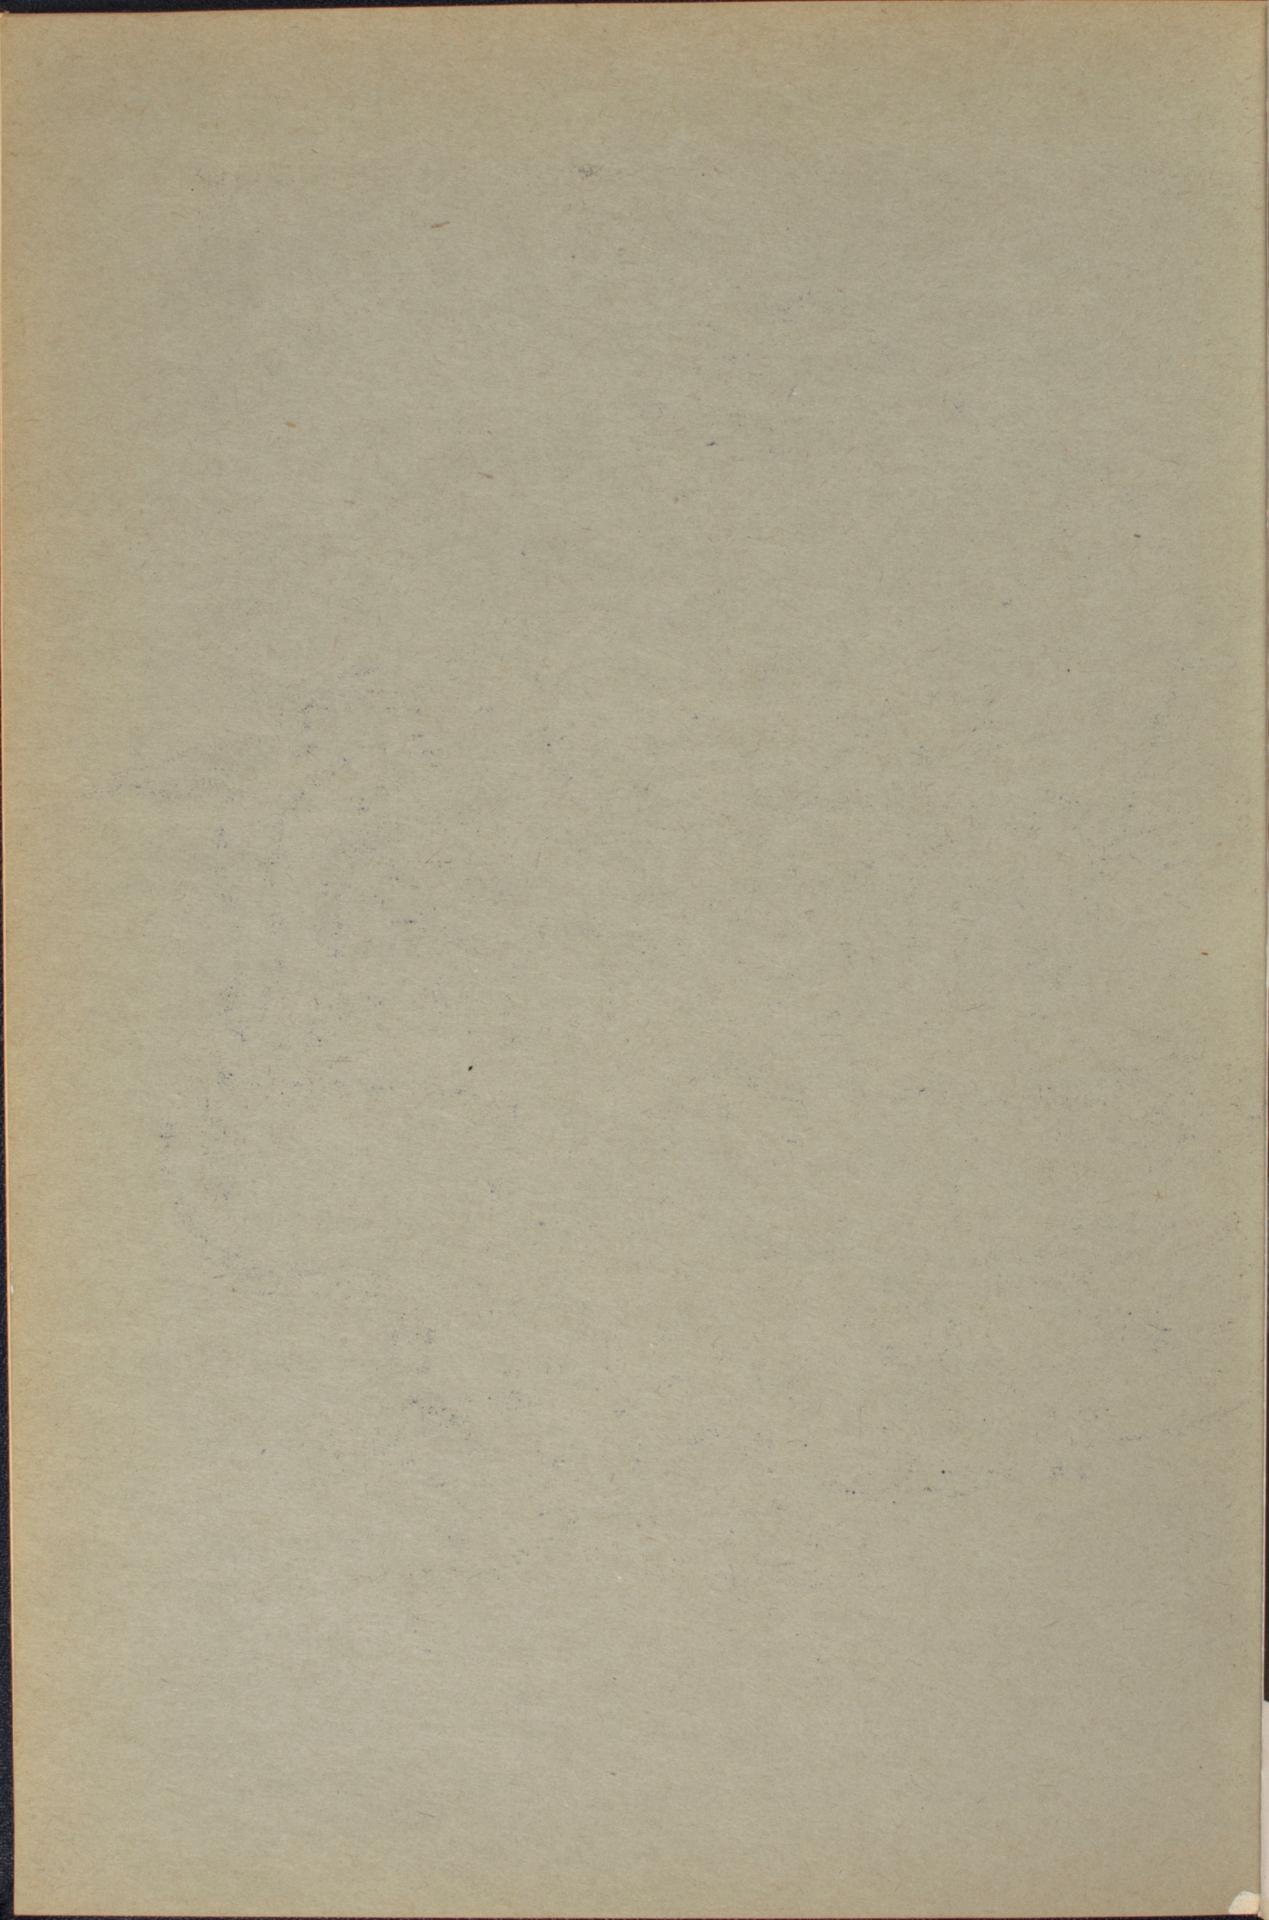

These were just a few of the questions which confronted Mrs. Mae C. Warren this year in her post as dean of girls.

Mrs. Warren was always ready to help in whatever ways she could. Her counsel solved many a problem. The girls realize that she is indeed a fine friend and advisor as well as a competent home economics teacher.

And so the girls of U. High say, "Thanks, Mrs. Warren, for all the things that you've done for us."

Here is the beginning of our four year journey—the freshman class. The class of "51" had a very successful year under the able guidance of Mr. Moore. In early fall the following students were elected to help him; Bob Kadlec, president; Steve McCormick, vice president; and Gene Seyster, secretary-treasurer.

This year the "green freshies" were very active. Their talents came to light in debating, dramatics, musical groups, and even chess. Evidence of their school spirit in this, their first year, was seen by their regular attendance at all school activities. And could they cheer at those games! Why, two of their number even helped lead the cheers. Many of the freshman boys played on the fresh-soph teams. With this group to build on, the future looks bright for teams of U. High.

Yes, the class of "51" offers excellent leaders for the future.

This sophomore class is really "up-and-coming" and very successful. Attention was focused on them early in December. Do you remember the all school party with the Christmas theme presented by them? They all really worked hard to make it the success it was.

Santa Claus, Al Jolson, Bing Crosby, the City Slickers, and dancers from the Rae Ann Roberts School were the celebrities present.

No one can say these sophomores didn't work hard enough trying to put over their plans for financing the buying of band uniforms. They presented their views at a Town Meeting type of assembly, but the student body just wasn't behind the plan. However, they succeeded in bringing the matter to the attention of the Student Council with plans to do something about it in the future.

They also planned on being a step ahead of the other classes by ordering their class rings early. Besides this they are also planning a service next fall to orient freshmen in U. High customs. This gesture will be a great aid in making U. High freshmen at home.

The class of '49 proved this year that it had every bit as much initative as junior classes of the past. All of its eighty members carried on the varied and rather nerve-racking activities of the class. With the help of its sponsor, Miss Alexander, and its capable officers: Wallace Brandt, president; Marilyn Hoyt, vice-president; Frances Walker, secretary; and Lois Reed, treasurer, the class did many outstanding things this year. One of the hardest working members of this class was the financial chairman, Harlan Peithman, who was in charge of the activities of those faithful juniors always seen selling pop, candy, and gum at all the games and parties. We might add their peppermint sticks went over big!! This helped finance the prom and other projects that will come during their senior year.

Another money making project was their play "The Great Big Doorstep" which they gave November 21. On Thursday afternoon they presented their production for the grade-school children and then Friday evening for the public. The cast and committee members learned all the trials and tribulations of putting on a production. Some of the juniors will never forget the memorable night they worked 'til midnight putting up stage scenery. Congratulations Juniors, on a swell play!!

son

This junior class has really done a great deal to make the other activities of U. High successful. Many of the members were represented in sports, cheerleading, clubs and committees. The shining climax of their year came with the junior-senior prom. This was a day they can always be proud of. Yes, their prom was one of the best yet.

Pardon us if we burst with exuberance, but we simply must put down in black and white at least some of our experiences at U. High. We only hope that we have given as much to the school as it has given to us.

'Way back in '44 (seems ages ago, doesn't it?) ninety-seven freshies entered the halls of U. High for the first time. They were the average type—green and rather timid, but hopeful and quite ambitious. We, who are now almost ready to graduate, were those new "U. Highers".

We came from a number of different grade schools, so our first job was to get acquainted with one another. We made many friends among our fellow classmates and those of other classes, too. We still remember how we would gaze with awe at the (pause for reverence) seniors. Today, we don't seem half as dignified or important as those seniors of '44.

Miss Mary Webb became our class sponcor—a fact for which we have "thanked our lucky stars" many times. With her help and that of Marty Schaab, our "prexy," we sailed smoothly through our freshman year. Norma Jean Hanell was vice-president that year, Nancy Fearheiley was secretary, and Jim Laible, treasurer.

We all remember the Valentine party (exclusively for freshies) that we gave. And those hearts hanging from the lamps, why the gym was full of them. And what a football team we had! Our fresh.-soph. team won nine games and lost none. Pretty good, eh? We shall now take time out to pat ourselves on the back.

All of us at U. High were saddened when we learned that our principal, Dr. Sherman Waggoner, was going to leave. It was about the middle of the year. The school presented the Waggoners with a silver tray at the Christmas all-school party. Dr. Victor M. Houston immediately took over Dr. Waggoner's place as principal. His understanding of our problems and willingness to help have eliminated many of the "rough spots" in our journey through high school.

When we think of our freshman year, we remember two events of international importance. In April our President, Franklin Roosevelt, died in Georgia. The following summer marked the end of World War II.

Then we were sophomores, and Nancy Fearheiley was elected to carry out the numerous presidential duties. Jim Laible, Ruth Beeler, and Frances Coan assisted her as vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively.

We felt quite important ushering at various events sponsored by upperclassmen. Members of our class showed a dynamic interest in Thalian, Rostrum, music organizations, library club, and dramatic club. We sponsored the best all-school party of the year (according to us!).

Mrs. Mae C. Warren became the first dean of girls that year. Now we can't understand how the feminine population of U. High in the past ever got along without her.

The tower of Old Main was removed in the spring. All classes were stopped as the dramatic moment drew near. We observed this tragic process from the windows of the science building, the steps of North Hall, or any other place where we could squeeze in among the crowds.

Money isn't everything, but it certainly helped during our junior year. Patty Martin, as financial chairman, had charge of our money-making projects. By selling everything from "Oh Henry" 's to green and gold football pins, we collected quite a neat little sum for (hush! those magic words) the prom.

We used a medieval theme with scrolls for place cards and programs shaped as castles. Dr. Poland's talk left us much to think about. And remember the drawbridge entrance to the dancefloor and the shields on the wall? But the main attraction was the wishing well which—due to hard use (?)—was slightly delapidated by the end of the evening. We'd be willing to bet our last hard-earned dollar that everyone had a wonderful time.

We must not forget our flare for acting—"A Date With Judy", remember? We even recorded the number of laughs and chuckles which proved to be astounding. Needless to say, the play was a comedy.

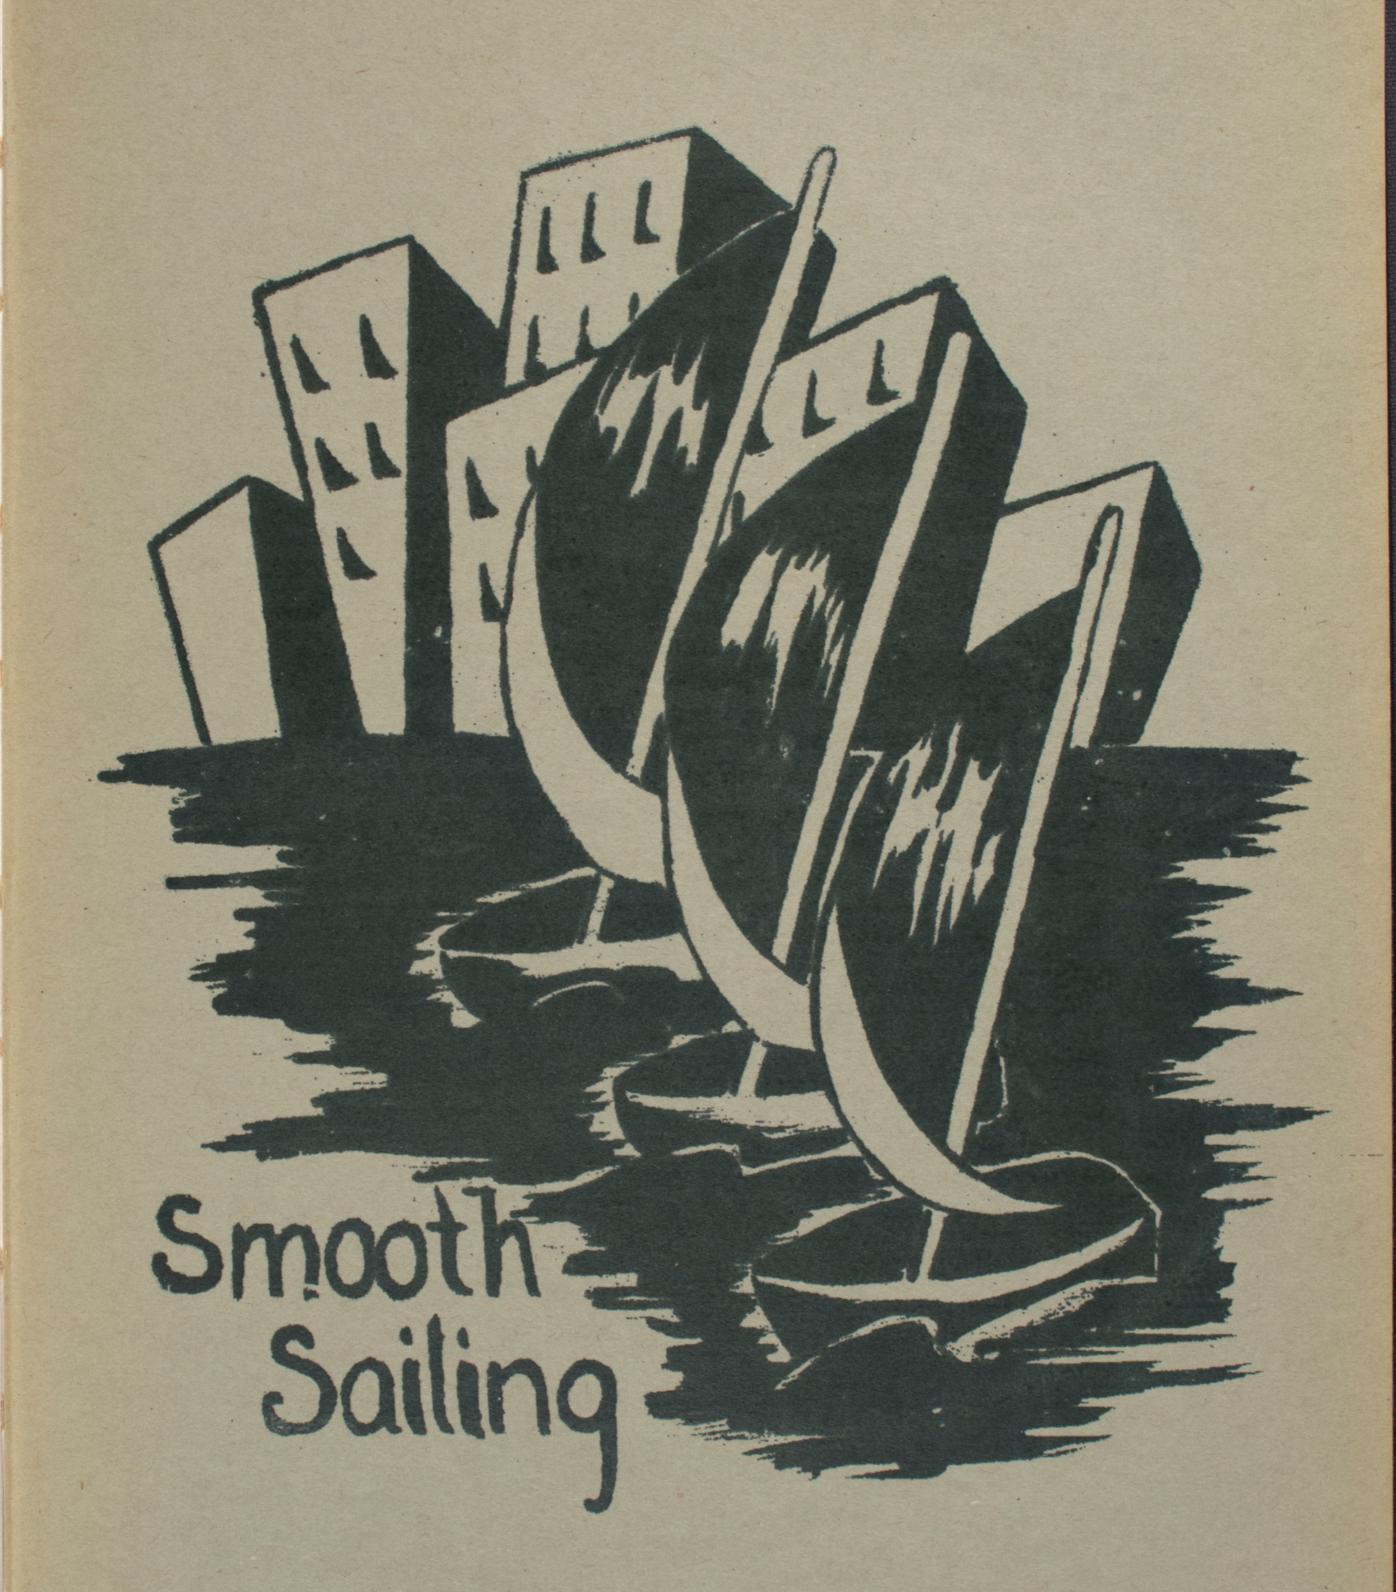

During our junior year Jim Laible was our president; Bill Dorn, vice-president; Kay Davis, secretary; and Frank Abbott, treasurer.

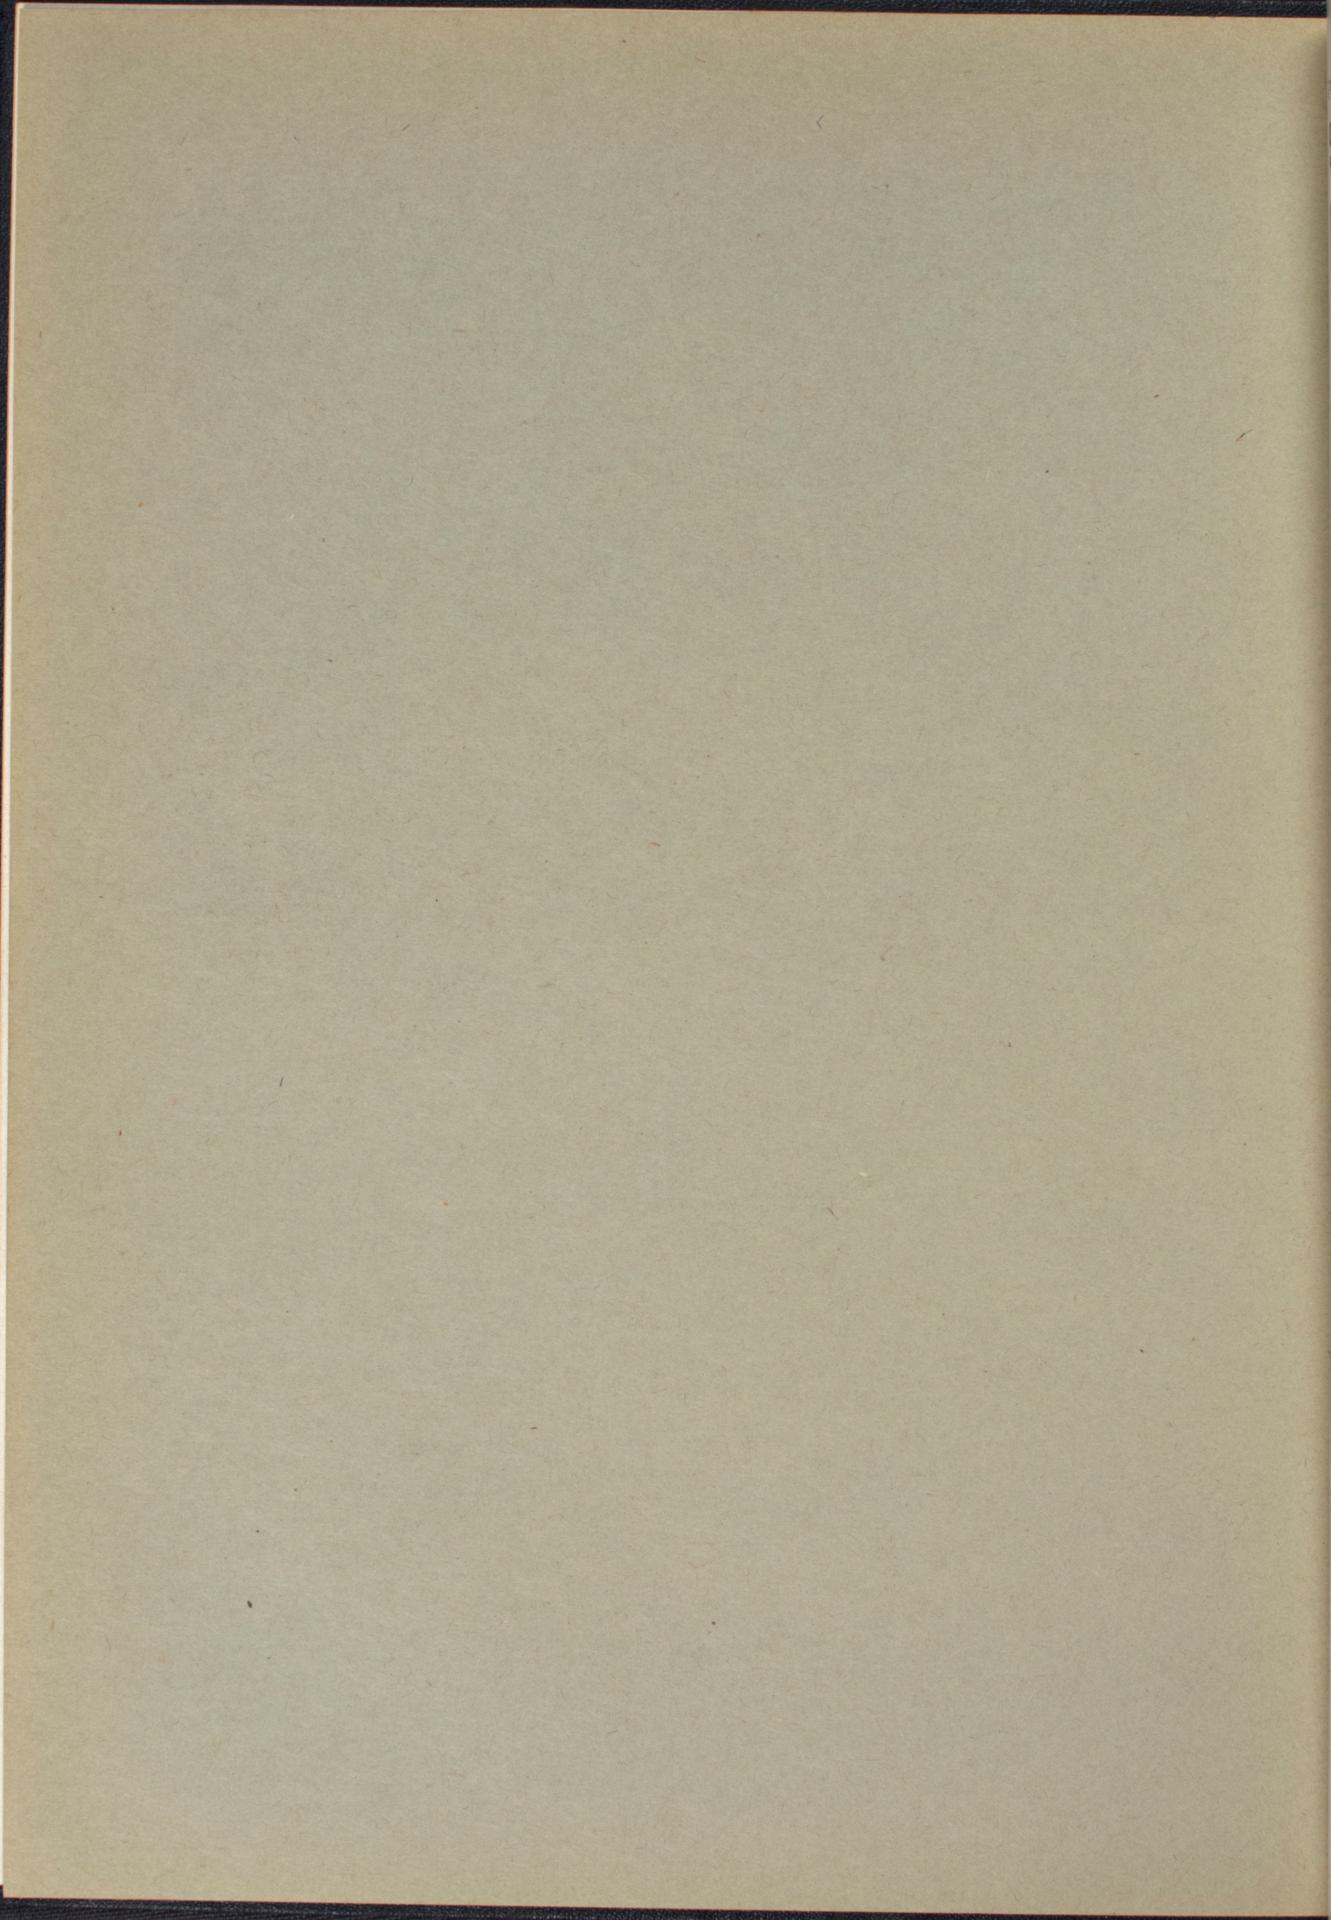

We were as proud as peacocks (and peahens) when we received our class rings. We have worn them faithfully ever since that day when we first slipped them on our fingers.

At last—our senior year! Things have gone at break-neck speed on this last lap of our four year journey—the all-school party we sponsored, the weiner roast at Kinders' (that scavenger hunt! We'll never forget our trip to the graveyard.), the class play, our annual senior trip, and class night—the finale of a gay four years. Yes, we could go on forever.

Our officers for this final year have been Norma Jean Hanell, president; Bob Stutzman, vice-president; Patty Martin, secretary; and Pat Taylor, treasurer.

Listen! Is that "Pomp and Circumstance" that we hear in the distance? It's almost time to say "good-bye" to dear old U. High. We don't regret leaving her because we know she's in good hands. We have one last request to make—please keep her green and gold banners flying, lift your heads high whenever the strains of "Go It, U. High" reach you, and "proudly say that you're from U. High, uphold her through the years."

Class work alone is not enough, however, to make our high school days one of the priceless parts of life. So, all aboard for the "club car" and the activities along the way—

STUDENT COUNCIL

. . . "Madame President, I suggest . . ." If you go by a certain classroom any Wednesday night after school, and hear something like this, you can be pretty sure you have just heard one of the student council members airing his (or her) views on some current U. High problem. The student council had a lot to do this year, and they did it well. The selling of green and gold mechanical pencils was one of their projects; they sponsored a plan by which U. High supported a school overseas; they supervised homecoming activities, all-school parties, noon activities, and even freshman day. Does it sound like a lot of duties? Well, the people on the council are just the ones who can

The officers—Patty Reed, president; Howard Schwartz, vice-president; Martha accomplish such things. Schaab, secretary; and Bob White, treasurer—were elected in the usual manner, after the spirited campaign, climaxed by the assembly where the candidates gave their campaign

Mr. Bey once more lent his ideas and encouragement to the group as its spon speeches. sor. Again this year student council members were chosen from English and U. S. History classes. We at U. High should be, and are, proud of our efficient and democratic student council.

APPORTIONMENT BOARD

Back Row: Mr, Dalluge, Dr. Houston, D. Doud, Mr. Lovelass

Scated: Miss Webb, Miss Klauser, M. Hoyt

Absent: B. Stutzman, P. Orr

Wow!! Just look at all those figures on the blackboard. It must have taken hours to get that all straightened out!! But on closer inspection we see it actually has meaning. Yes, it's the work of the apportionment board.

Under the direction of Miss Klauser, Miss Webb, Mr. Dalluge, and Dr. Houston, the board determined the amount of money spent last year by each club or class and made the allowances for this year. You're wondering where the money comes from? Why, it's the money from the activity fees we pay each semester.

As has been the custom in past years, the student members of the board consisted of the three vice-presidents from the upper classes and a selected representative from the freshman class. This year the members were Bob Stutzman, Marilyn Hout, Dick Doud, and Patricia Orr. From this group Marilyn was chosen secretary.

"Small and mighty" as the saying goes—this certainly applies to that pennypinching (just joking) energetic group. It really takes honest effort to make the money collected from activity fees fill the many needs of a busy school. Hats off to our financiers!!

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

Standing: M. Foster, P. Green, J. Beggs, C. Cornick Seated: F. Abbott Absent: J. Kinder

Here we have a committee that was organized by the Student Council. It's sole purpose is to make things public, and that's really all it does. It holds meetings when the need arises. When any individual or club wants some activity publicized they see Frank Abbott, who was made chairman of the group. He gets six members together, and they discuss what could be done to help. Two of the members are from the art classes, two from the journalism class, one from Student Council and the other member is chosen at random.

Posters for different events are their specialities. They see that all of the newspapers are informed and bulletins sent around to all of the classes. Sometimes during the assemblies they have someone make an announcement or even give a skit. This really goes over big with the kids.

Since this committee had it's beginning last year a great deal of organizational work is required. But soon it's going to be one of the most useful groups in the school (we think) because of the help it can give the clubs, classes, etc. When it gets a chance the committee plans one whole side of the bulletin board out in the hall, just to publicize the clubs. Each club will have a place where it can put notices about what it is doing.

Besides club publicity this committee also handles special drives and campaigns. For instance, when the Community Chest and Red Cross drives came along, Frank and his committee were all ready with different kinds of posters. They also have helped the Student Council collect money for the school they are sponsoring in Europe through a graph showing our program.

So, remember kids, if that club you belong to is sponsoring an all-school party or something that you want publicized, take your problem to someone on the publicity committee and they'll see what they can do to help.

CLARION STAFF

Are your write-ups in? Do you need film? Is that snap page finished? When are the cover designs due? What color shall the division pages be?

These are only a few of the questions one might have heard upon stepping into T-105 right after school on Thursdays, for the Clarion staff was hard at work making a marvelous yearbook (we hope you think so).

The offices of head typist, assistant literary editor, and assistant sports editor were new positions this year. Something else which was new this year was the aid of an I. S. N. U. student, Miss Hemken, who was interested in this type of work. She really was a wonderful addition to the group. Her ideas and assistance were invaluable.

And, of course, Miss Klauser was there. As in former years, Miss Klauser's willing spirit led the group on. Then during the second semester, when Miss Klauser left, Mr. Almy became the Clarion sponsor. It was hard to step in near the end of the year, but he did a wonderful job. The staff is glad to welcome Mr. Almy to U. High.

Anyone who wishes to uphold the standards of the organization may join. But one must be willing to work. Now don't get the impression that Clarion is all work and no play. Remember that Clarion picnic which took the place of the last meeting? Well, that was certainly lots of fun. So we see that work and fun go hand in hand with the staff that makes the yearbook.

We of the Clarion staff wish to take this opportunity to give Miss Lucile Klauser a little of the recognition she most certainly deserves. For the past five years she has given untiringly in her efforts to make your yearbook a success. The many problems of publishing this annual have been made easier through her aid. This year Miss Klauser has left us for a new position, and we want her to know that not only the staff but all the students miss her greatly. Through her understanding and kindness she has made a place for herself in U. High not soon to be forgotten. But putting it simply and rather inadequately, "Your cheerful smile and friendly attitude are missed deeply in the halls of old U. High, but we wish you the best of luck in your new work."

Please make clear the order in which you want the names to appear.

THALIAN

Back Row: M. Schaab, E. Steele, N. J. Hanell, L. Reed, K. Davis, F. Coan, D. R. Swan, P. Reed, P. Darcy, N. Fearheiley, A. Gooding, J. Tate, A. Galvin

Do you approve of the "new look"? Although no startling decision was reached, this debate question caused quite a controversy in Thalian. After all, when a question as vital as this comes along before a group of girls, what can you expect? But don't get the wrong idea—this group does more than just quibble.

An activity you will all remember is the St. Patrick's all-school party. But even before that the Thalians had sponsored a party for their new members. The cider and doughnuts certainly put the finishing touch to that evening!! As usual, the new members were on kitchen duty. A new idea was added by the tea given for past members of Thalian in honor of Thalian's twenty-fifth anniversary.

Social activities weren't this group's only project, for they definitely proved their worth in Rostrum-Thalian debates and various tournaments. In the past few years the girls have become quite active in tournament debates.

The banquet added its usual touch in the spring. With all these activities plus worth-while meetings, Thalian has enjoyed another successful year with Miss Eikenberry as its willing sponsor.

With twenty-five years behind it, Thalian is certainly a club that U. High can be proud of. As they have just passed their silver anniversary, we wish the Thalians success as they travel on to their golden anniversary.

ROSTRUM

This club may look small, and it is, but its two members make up for this membership handicap by hard work. This hard work has really brought them a lot of awards and achievements they can be proud of.

Bill Rolley was chosen president and Bob Fisher served as vice-president. Mr. Barber is the sponsor and since he is particularly interested in debating his earnest assistance has helped the club to go far. Besides showing the fellows how to do excellent debating, Mr. Barber found questions that are especially concerned with current topics.

Of course, there were the two Thalian-Rostrum debates for the McCormick cup. These are always of special interest to almost every student. All teams will agree to the fact that the experience gained in these debates far outweighs the decision.

We musn't forget about the U. High—I. S. N. U. Invitational Debate Tournament which was held in December. These two Rostrum members upheld the negative side of the question and made everyone really proud of them. They won four out of their four debates. These victories were over Kiwanis, Galesburg, Petersburg, and Sandwich—and these teams were not easy—as both Bill and Bob can tell you.

In the spring the fellows entered the sectional tournament debates in Lincoln sponsored by the Illinois High School Associations. Everyone is certainly proud of these excellent debaters.

"Stop the presses!"

"Where's that copy for the fudge column?"

"This hed should be a banner with three decks."

"Bring me the ears."

Greek? Not for the Clarionette staff. Its members are quite experienced in using this journalistic lingo. Just go into N-205 any sixth hour, and you'll see about twenty juniors and seniors busily typing, chewing the ends of their pencils, or discussing improvements for the paper.

All the members of this journalism class are automatically on the Clarionette staff along with any other students who write stories for the paper. Mr. William DeClark is the sponsor.

This year this energetic group took trips to the Normalite and the Pantagraph offices and even went to Chicago to see how a metropolitian newspaper is run.

The following students had charge of the editing of the Clarionette for the first semester: Patsy Anderson, editor-in-chief; Barbara Browne, associate editor; Frances Coan, news editor; George Harris, sports editor; Ruth Herrington and Ann Gooding, feature editors; Ruth Reining, photo editor; Jack Stern, photographer; Helen Priest, business manager; and Betsy Lonney, exchange manager.

QUILL AND SCROLL

An honor and an accomplishment—yes, it is both to be a member of Quill and Scroll. This group is a journalism honorary society which tries to improve journalistic standards. Mr. DeClark ("Slug" to most of us), their sponsor, works with the members to help them improve their writing abilities.

It's not just anyone that can belong to this organization, for you see there are some rather high standards to meet. To be recommended by their advisor and principal, the members must be in the upper third of their class, must do a certain amount of journalistic writing, and must excel in a particular type of journalistic writing. The characteristics of leadership and initiative are also important in deciding their membership. Once attaining this goal the members are entitled to wear a gold pin and receive the Quill and Scroll magazine.

Perhaps, right in this group are some of the outstanding authors and correspondents of tomorrow. So let's wish them success in their career in journalism.

Have you heard many of the U. High students talking about the wonderful times they had and the things they learned this year in the Junior Red Cross? They tell about the fun they had learning to swim. They were also given instruction in artificial respiration and other first-aid techniques. Bundles of clothes were collected to be sent everseas and many fest ve tray favors and menu covers were made for use in hospitals.

Under the capable sponsorship of Miss Alexander and the officers—Rosemary Roeder, president; Jim Day, vice-president; and Steffie Goldman, secretary treasurer—a great many things were accomplished in the bimonthly meetings which were both interesting and educational.

But just think this over-

Although they d'd a splendid job this year, perhaps more of us should realize that by contributing during the membership drive, we, too, are members of the Junior Red Cross. And so you see it's up to all of us to make this club a success. Yes, it certainly deserves our wholehearted support!!

LATIN CLUB

The Latin Club was sponsored by Dr. Connell, Associate Professor of Latin, with the assistance of Miss Barz, who was a Latin major at I. S. N. U.

The club is always made up of students who have had Latin or who are taking it. Membership is voluntary. The meetings are held the second Tuesday of every month from 7:00 to 8:00 p.m.

The two main events of this year were the Christmas party comparable to a Roman Saturnalia and the spring picnic at the end of the year.

The Latin Club provided a means of supplementing the class work. Their monthly programs consisted of panels, talks, and games. Their project was the making of slides showing relationships of Latin to practical life; these slides will be filed and made available to other dapartments.

The officers this year were consul (president), Connie Cornick; alter-consul (vice-president), Marian Shinneman; scribe (secretary), Nancy Knuth; quaestor (treasurer), Oren Schaab; and gubernator (p.ogram chairman), Steve McCormick.

This year the Library Club had a rather small but active membership, having accomplished many things despite small committees and difficulties in finding a suitable meeting time. The club finally decided on holding meetings once or twice a month on Tuesday. A precedent was also set this year be electing officers in the fall instead of the spring. Kay Davis was elected president with Pat Darcy as vice-president. Ruth Beeler was chosen secretary and Marcia Minch treasurer.

In December the group was invited to a party at Wither's Public Library sponsored by the Bloomington High School Library Club. Any of the members will tell you it proved to be both educational and entertaining. The cleverly decorated library was another of the activities enjoyed by the group. At Christmas time the tinsel-trimed tree and other decorations made the room especially festive.

Working behind the library desk alongside their sponsor, Mrs. Schlosser, the members learned the "ups and downs" of library work. The end of the year was climaxed by the annual picnic.

There are no exacting qualifications for membership—just an interest in library work, in books, and in new acquaintances made through books.

DRAMATICS CLUB

The dramatic talents of some of the U. High students are brought out in the productions which this club presents. Each member worked very hard to bring more notice to dramatics, and to make this group the most popular in the school. Many aspirants to be fellow actors and actresses have done a lot this year to improve their abilities. They had much to learn about stage scenery, lighting effects, applying make-up, and selections of costumes. Some of the members aspire to be comedians while others hope to do more dramatic work.

The club started the year by electing capable officers. Lois Reed was chosen president; Donna Mae Geske, vice-president; and Marcia Minch, secretary. Their meetings were held twice a month on Wednesdays in T-109. Mrs. Van den Heurk, who is new in U. High, and Mr. Barber co-sponsored the group and were a great help in making the club a success.

Just before Christmas vacation, these dramatic students put on a very timely play entitled "Reunion at Christmas." Each member put his whole heart and soul into his lines and the play was a wonderful success. The audience was greatly impressed by the production which left them with a wonderful Christmas feeling.

Absent: I. J. Canerdy, R. Lishka

One of the projects of the Junior Class was the production, "The Great Big Door Step," presented November 21, 1947, under the direction of Mrs. Van den Heurk and student director, Elsa Roehm.

The head of the family, Mr. Crochet, was played by Duane Dossett; his wife, by Ida Jane Canerdy. June Thomas played the unsatisfied daughter Topal and Joan Tate was Evvy. Other members of the cast were Virginia Buckholz, Nancy Kring, Lorin Thompson, Keith Cluts, Jack Stiegelmeier, and Robert Lishka. Yes, this was a great play enjoyed by everyone.

The play centered around the hardships of a poor family living along the Mississippi. And yet with all their troubles they somehow managed to see their way through to a happy ending.

Chairmen of the committees were: make-up, Margery Foster; costumes, Joan Tate; house, La Vonne Jetton; publicity, Don Turner and Lois Reed; properties, Robert Lishka; lights and sound, Emunds Rolley; stage manager, Barbara Buckholtz; stage, Keith Cluts.

"A MURDER HAS BEEN ARRANGED"

No light, fantastic comedy for this senior class!! No sireee Thursday night, April 22 saw the portrayal of a vicious murder on the stage of Capen.

Yes, right before our very eyes Capen Auditorium was suddenly transformed into Saint James Theatre, London. Here, at the stroke of eleven, Sir Charles Jasper (Bill Rolley) was to inherit the tidy sum of two million pounds. But before this happened, the arrival of Maurice Mullins (Bill Bunting), his only living relative, served to thicken the plot and eventually to prove the doom of Sir Charles.

You see there was a legend concerning St. James Theater. Many years before a man had been slain in the theater; a dumb woman had appeared and the ghost of the murdered man had flitted about the stage after the dumb woman's death, so that the murderer was revealed. According to the legend, this was to be repeated in fifty-five years. To celebrate this zero hour Sir Charles planned a dinner party. However, with the arrival of Jimmy North (Dale Davis) a note of mysterious hilarity is added . Sir Charles' wife, Beatrice, (Joan Mercier) is placed in an extremely difficult role of appearing to be calm and cool before Miss Groze (Barbara Browne), the accomplice of Maurice Mullins, even with the knowledge of her husband's corpse lying in the alcove. The whole plot reaches a climax when the dumb woman (Nancy Stevens) glides on to the stage and helps to fulfill the prophecy. Frank Correll as Cavendish, the band conductor, Erma Steele as Mrs. Wragg, the maid, and Ann Gooding as Mrs. Arthur, the dominating mother of Beatrice all played important parts in making this play a success. It can certainly be said that no other production has given as many thrills and chills to Capen theater-goers in many a year.

GIRLS CHORUS AND MIXED CHORUS

This year U. High had two choruses—Girls' Chorus and Mixed Chorus.

Mr. Peithman directed the mixed chorus. The group enjoyed singing many new types of songs as well as old favorites.

The officers chosen to aid the group were: Marilyn Hoyt, president; Wallace Brandt, vice-president; and Bruce Johnson, secretary.

This is another group worthy of our spirited support!!

Mr. Lowell Kuntz, director of the girls' chorus, really had a fine system for checking voices. It didn't take the group long to get down to business. Yes, the girls really worked hard all year.

Just before Christmas the girls gave a program for some of the grades of the Metcalf School. Together with the ensemble, the chorus presented an assembly which everyone enjoyed. The hour ended with group singing. That gave everyone a chance to show off his good voice. An equally impressive program was given by the chorus at baccalaureate in the spring.

The business of the organization was under the direction of Ruth Herrington, president; Kay McDonald, vice-president; and Marilyn Hougham, secretary.

The instrumental groups under the direction of Mr. Neal Glenn were as active as the choruses.

The band really made a good showing at the games. We were all proud of them. They felt that with new uniforms they could make an even better showing. The question of purchasing these uniforms brought about much discussion on the part of the student body. Perhaps in the near future, we will see our band members all "decked out" in new uniforms.

If you want to be a member of this group just practice. Then you, too, can be a part of this fine band.

This year the orchestra worked especially hard and became a fine musical group.

Along with the other instrumental groups, they met in F-7 the new federal housing unit for music purposes.

A new group this year was the ensemble. They have really made a great advancement since their beginning.

In cooperation with the girls' chorus, the ensemble presented two programs. Also they made a good showing at the junior and senior plays. After hearing these concerts, we all felt that they were a worthwhile addition to our music department.

All of the musical groups greatly enjoyed caroling at Christmas time. This evening was climaxed by the serving of cookies and hot chocolate at Mr. Kuntz's home. The five groups also participated in the annual spring festival. And, of course, they ended their successful year with their annual picnic. As usual everyone had fun!!!

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

An announcement from the office—"the assembly this week will be . . . ". That sounds familiar, doesn't it? Well, have you often wondered who plans the assemblies? At one time or another you have probably seen one or all of the persons pictured above going around school with distressed looks. They were, no doubt, worrying about the next program and wondering whether the entertainment would consume the entire fifty minutes. Despite their worries, the committee had fun scheduling the programs for the year and later discussing them.

Members of the committee usually met after every two assemblies to evaluate the programs and take care of any difficulties that needed attention. When evaluating assemblies, they considered the students' opinions and by those determined whether to plan for similar programs in the future. Their meeting place was N-5 at 3:00 o'clock on Mondays.

Miss Leppert and Mr. Barber sponsored this committee. One freshman along with two sophomores, two juniors, and two seniors completed the membership. This year Nancy Curtiss was president; Bill Rolley, vice-president; and Donna Rae Swan, secretary.

Any complaints or compliments about the programs of the past year or any suggestions for next year's assemblies should be made to the assembly committee.

SCIENCE CLUB

Remember that cold Thursday night last winter when you walked through the science building in an attempt to thaw out slightly from the freezing weather outside, when inside you noticed that ghastly odor of dead rats, the snap of electric sparks, and the choking feeling of strange vapors irritating your nostrils?

There was really nothing to be alarmed about, for the members of the U. High Science Club were merely holding one of their bimonthly meetings. They were working on the various biological, physical, and chemical projects which they had selected, such as: skinning rabbits for mounting skeletons, raising hampsters, making cosmetics, radios, and model steam engines. The finished projects were then entered into the Jr. Academy of Science for further competition.

Mr. Moore and Miss Harper the sponsors, were always on hand ready to answer any questions or make helpful suggestions. The officers—Frank Abbott, president; Harlan Peithman, vice-president; and Kay Davis, secretary treasurer—did a great job and helped make things run more smoothly. Harry Stillman, the program chairman, deserves special credit for presenting such interesting and entertaining programs. The Christmas party with the records and grab bag was loads of fun for everyone.

The Science Club is a worthwhile organization and would welcome anyone who is interested in science. It certainly deserves much support.

This year the Honor Society completed a great deal of "unfinished business" and even started some new activities. The U. High handbook was at last completed, and the Honor Society constitution got a long-needed overhauling. And what new activities, you ask? Well, for the first time congratulatory letters were written to those underclassmen whose names appeared on the semester honor roll. We hear this is to become one of U. High's many traditions.

The induction service was also held in the fall with those members carried over from the junior year—Frances Coan, Norma Jean Hanell, Jim Liable, Bill Rolley, and Tom Jefferson—installing the new members. Then, ah, yes, there was an initation, but sh—, that's a secret. Again in the spring the annual Honor Society assembly installation of the members to carry the society into the new year was held. Spring also found the members working out a program for the NCHS—U. High banquets.

Just how did these students become members? You see, as a junior five per cent and as a senior ten per cent of the upper third of the class are chosen by the faculty and their class on the basis of scholarship, service, leadership, and character.

And who were the officers? Well, first semester officers include all those carried over from the preceding year with Jim Laible as president. Second semester officers were Howard Schwartz, president; Martha Schaab, vice-president; Ruth Beeler, secretary; Bob White, treasurer; and Tom Jefferson, historian.

Yes, the Honor Society members certainly had a busy year but with the help of their sponsor, Miss Klauser, it proved to be an enjoyable one.

OUR CHEER LEADERS

Yea Green! Yea Gold! Yea U. High, let's go!

What's this? You're right—it's the familiar U. High cheer sounding forth from a group of enthusiastic U. Highers!! And down in front we see five cheerleaders dressed in green and gold outfits putting their hearts and souls into their work.

Yes, these cheerleaders really did a swell job this year. One senior, Martha Schaab, two juniors, Lois Reed and Marilyn Hougham, and two freshmen, Marilyn Nelson and Billy Truitt (both newcomers to the group) made up our spirited cheering squad. If it weren't for their loyal support in encouraging the team as well as the cheerful leadership of the cheering sections, school spirit at U. High would be definitely lacking.

But now let's look at a few of these mighty cheers—

P I-O-N-E-E-R-S (very softly) P-I-O-N-E-E-R S (louder) P-I-O-N-E-E-R S (loud) PI-O-N-E-E-R-S (as loud as possible) P-I-O-N-E-E-R-S

OUR COACHES

Rah! Rah! Yes, to add pep and enthusiam to our journey we find a whole section on sports—

Coach Burton O'Connor again this year demonstrated to all U. High followers his excellent ability as a coach. He led the football team to a Corn Belt Championship with a record of eight wins and two losses. Although working with an inexperienced basketball team, he succeeded in leading it to a contenders position in the Corn Belt Conference.

Since 1937, when he came to U. High, Mr. O'Connor has had only one losing season.

The students of U. High are proud of their athletic teams and deeply appreciative to Mr. O'Connor for his untiring efforts as coach.

Mr. B. L. O'Connor

Mr. H. Farnsworth

A familiar figure in sports here at U. High this past year was Mr. Harlan Farnsworth. He comes from Grant, Michigan, where for two years he coached basketball and track and taught biology and chemistry. He coached Grant, Michigan High School to Newaygl Athletic Conference championships in both basketball and track last year. His season's record was 14-2. This year at U. High Mr. Farnsworth coached freshmen-sophomore football and basketball and varsity baseball.

U. High 46—Fairbury 0

In a decisive victory over the Tartens, half the U. High team cut loose with touchdowns to show much promise in their opening game. Most of the reserves saw action and this uncovered several underclass speedsters, among whom Bob Kadlec and Ray Swayne showed good promise for the year.

U. High 13-Monticello 0

Sparked by Bill Beebe and Bill Dorn, the Pioneers defeated a stubborn Monticello football team for their 13th straight win. The action began in the second half after a very rough hard-fought first period.

U. High 0-Bloomington 7

In an evenly matched battle, BHS wrested their share of the intercity title here by trouncing the Pioneers 7-0, with Bob Neal adding the BHS touchdown. The game saw some brilliant line play mostly on the defensive side for both teams.

U. High 19-Morris 12

Running is his "46" form, movin' Milt Kadlec broke loose on two touchdown jaunts, and Lou Frank scored just after the opening gun to help the Pioneers run over a stubborn Morris eleven on the Morris gridiron.

U. High 19-Normal 0

The Pioneers opened with a 93 yard drive which was the longest time-consuming march in local football history. Though Normal failed to score, they continually threatened the U. High goal. The game, which was played at Truman Keys Field, marked the second Corn Belt victory for the hard driving U. High eleven.

U. High 51—Dwight 0 (Homecoming)

The Green and Gold banners flew high as the powerful U. High team scored goal after goal. The superb backfield plays completely bewildered the discouraged Dwight Trojans. Every Pioneer reserve saw action at the McCormick Field tiff. The final score 51-0.

U. High 9—Pontiac 6

To ruin the Indians' hopes of a Corn Belt title, the Pioneers fought their way to a 9-6 win at Pontiac. Both teams, evenly matched, fought on the ground and in the air with U. High coming off the winner when Dorn plowed over from the nine yard-line.

U.High 0-Hall Twp. 39

Being no match for the powerful, smooth Hall Twp. eleven, the Pioneers suffered their second loss of the year 39-0. Missing M. Kadlec from an ankle injury and losing Bill Dorn in the opening minutes of play, the Pioneers struggled to the 20 yard line once but missed a necessary first down and lost the ball.

U. High 12—Trinity 7

With the first string backs, Dorn and Milt Kadlec, seeing only limited action because of injuries, the Green and Gold warriors sloshed through mud to a 12-7 victory against stubborn Irish resistance. Lou Frank, with beautiful assistance from Bill Beebe and Bob Kadlec, clinched U. High's second straight Corn Belt football championship with two touchdowns.

University High's underclassmen gave a very good account of themselves and showed a definite improvement toward the end of the season by rolling up three successive shutout victories. After being held to two ties and a loss, the victory-hungry team bounced back by defeating the two teams that tied them by decisive scores of 14-0 and 27-0. A replay with BHS, which probably would have proven very interesting and different from the first game with them, was canceled because of a disagreement on dates. Outstanding on the future varsity were Bruce Johnston, a quarterback with definite promise, Bob McKinley, a fleet-footed halfback, and "Red" Schultz, a rough and ready lineman. If the Fresh-Soph's appearance this year means anything, the varsity is in for many more successful seasons.

FRESH-SOPH BASKETBALL

The underclassmen basketeers of U. High proved to be a credit to the varsity by winning ten out of the seventeen games they played, several of which were against the opposition's varsity reserves. If the team's spirit and quality of play means anything, the Green and Gold followers may look forward to several successful basketball campaigns. Toward the close of the season, the Freshmen gained a sweet victory at the expense of the Sophomores who rallied valiantly in the dying minutes of the game to pull up within four points.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Although the U. High cagers were a little shy on experience this year, no one can deny that every member of the team didn't put forth his best effort to make it a winning combination.

Coach Burt O'Connor, who lost most of his team last year, had to start rebuilding with green material. The excellent showings of Jack Donahue and Tom Jefferson the only returning veterans helped hold the team together. While Ted Jordan, a junior and Bill Beebe and John Gaddy who are both sophomores, gained much needed experience to add new hope that next year the Pioneers will have a much improved team.

The Pioneers played their best game of the year in the Pontiac Tournament when they forced a strong Batavia team to go into an overtime to beat them 43-41.

In the Chenoa Regional the Green and Gold were the underdogs. In their first game they knocked off Gridley 45-40 only to lose out to a small but powerful Chenoa team by 70-44 in the semi-finals to close the season with a record of 7-13.

U. High's 1947 edition of Murder's Row was slowed down considerably by the lack of enough top pitchers. The pitching staff had enough "stuff" to confuse the opposition but was overworked in too many games resulting in a loss of efficiency. The team got off to a brilliant start by downing five out of the first seven teams to face it. These wins included a surprising wallop of Heyworth's Ryburn and Company which had previously nudged U. High 4-2. Particularly outstanding for the Pioneers were Clint Short, able second baseman, Milt Kadlec, somewhat hampered by a pulled ankle tendon, and Don Campbell, slugging centerfield. Bill Dorn's catching proved a sparkplug to the team and his hustle led to many victories. Other capable fellows on the team were Bob Landis, Bill Beebe, Jack Donahue, and Lou Frank. The team lost quite a few men by graduation, but the players that remain are able to carry on in a very true, winning Pioneer manner.

The Pioneer thinlies opened the season by losing to Chenoa 63½ to 54½. Ten days later the Green and Gold came back to edge out Bloomington 65 to 63. U. High took eight first places with Kadlec and Weidig each taking two firsts and one second to tie for high point honors. Pontiac again was an easy winner in the Corn Belt Meet at McCormick Field with 75 points, U. High beat out Normal for the second, 36 to 27. In the Intercity Meet at Keys Field, U. High won with 52 points with Bloomington edging out Normal 47½ to 46¾ to place second. In this meet Jerry Martens threw the discus 148 feet 4 inches to set a new Intercity record, also it was the fourth best mark in the state. In the District Meet at Monticello, U. High placed fifth with 17 points. Kadlec qualified for the State Meet in the 220 and 100 yard dashes. Marten in the discus and the relay team consisted of Bob Landes, Tom O'Connell, Milt Kadlec and Kenny Darnell also qualified by placing second in the District.

U. High was represented last year by a tennis team, although not on an active competitive basis. In their only match of the season they won over Normal. If enough interest is shown in tennis this year, a schedule will be arranged with other schools. It is hoped that in the future tennis here at U. High will become a major spring sport as are baseball and track at the present time.

One of the two new sports introduced at U. High last year was Golf. Starting from scratch, the team, although not stupendous, planted this sport in the minds of the students as a definite possibility. Returning from last year are two capable men, Tom Jefferson and Bob Fisher, who along with others are sure to bring about a more successful season, and set golf up along with tennis as a major sport. Mr. Hammerlund served as sponsor and coach.

Since the early 1930's the U. Club has been active in the school. Upon obtaining a sports letter, a boy may belong to the club, which is symbolic of fine sportsmanship and hard play. The bright green sweater and outstanding yellow U are a common sight in the halls of U. High.

The boys in this club are very active in football, baseball, basketball, and track. They also officiate at various sports events and welcome members of visiting teams.

A record book is kept by the supervisor of the club, Coach O'Conner, in which every letterman may sign his name. Yes, it is an honor for any fellow to be able to say that he is a member of this group.

G. A. A.

"Where did that ping pong ball go?"

"Where shall we meet for the hike?"

This is a typical conversation among G. A. A. members.

To answer these questions we have Miss Gray who is sponsor of G. A. A. The officers elected to help her this year were Yvonne Oesch, president, Marilyn Bossum, vice-president and Betty Garlock, secretary treasurer.

G. A. A. held its meetings in Cook Hall gym the second Tuesday of every month after school. At the meetings, members decided the activities that were to be offered each Tuesday and Thursday. In the fall the girls went on hikes and played tennis. Winter found them playing volley ball, ping pong, and engaged in tumbling. When spring rolled around soft ball and again tennis caught their fancy.

Aside from activities carried on within the group, events sponsored by other G. A. A. groups were attended by them. In October they attended a play day held in Decatur and in February one in Atlanta. Just ask anyone of those who attended how much fun they were. You'll find out they were both enjoyable and worthwhile.

G. A. A. planned a successful invitation party for new members. Other parties sponsored by G. A. A. were a hayrack ride and skating party. And was that skating party fun!

The goal for each G. A. A. member is to be a state honor member. All of these girls are well on their way to success in G. A. A. work. Yes—hats off to these G. A. A. members.

HOMECOMING

Weeks and weeks of honest work finally came to light on Friday, October 17. Yes, homecoming time had rolled around again. In its usual fashion it turned out to be one of the best yet. The day dawned bright and clear, but as game time approached dark thunderheads gradually covered the sun. Many a loyal U. High supporter's heart sank with visions of a rain-drenched football field. But somehow we managed to get through the game with only a few drops here and there. Yes, and the team managed to trounce Dwight thoroughly 51 to 0. Quite a game, huh? But let's retrace our steps—

The weeks preceding homecoming saw the halls of Metcalf and the bridge decked with posters. This was all a part of the spirited campaign for our homecoming royalty. After election results were turned in, word slowly spread about the outcome; however, the king and queen were not officially announced until halftime at the game, when Martha Schaab, the Queen, along with her attendants, Joan Mercier and Pat Taylor, rode around the field. The king, Don Campbell, and his attendants, Tom Jefferson and Jack Donahue, didn't make their presence known until the dance.

Sitting in the bleachers, watching all this, and perhaps thinking over their own high school days were many alumni. Just a few of those we noticed were Johnny Malmburg, Marcella Pearson, Merle Murray, Rod Abbott, Bob Houghman, Eldon Rupp, and Roy Underwood. Last year's class turned out in full force—let's see, there were Patsy Johnson, Pauline West, Clarise Parker, Betty Saylor, Christine Lowenstein, Jim Terrill, Don Coleville, Russ Bankert, Ralph Smith, Bill Bates, Mary Earl, Ruth Mentzer, Karin Larsen, and Warren Woodburn, just to mention a few. We even talked to a few of them and here's what they had to say

Karin Larsen — "It's wonderful to be back and see all of my favorite friends."

Russ Bankert — "I feel more at home now than I ever did."

Clarise Parker — "I'm not very far from home, but I really enjoy coming back for the activities. It really was something to hear the group sing the school hymn at the end of the game."

These just about express the feelings of all alumni.

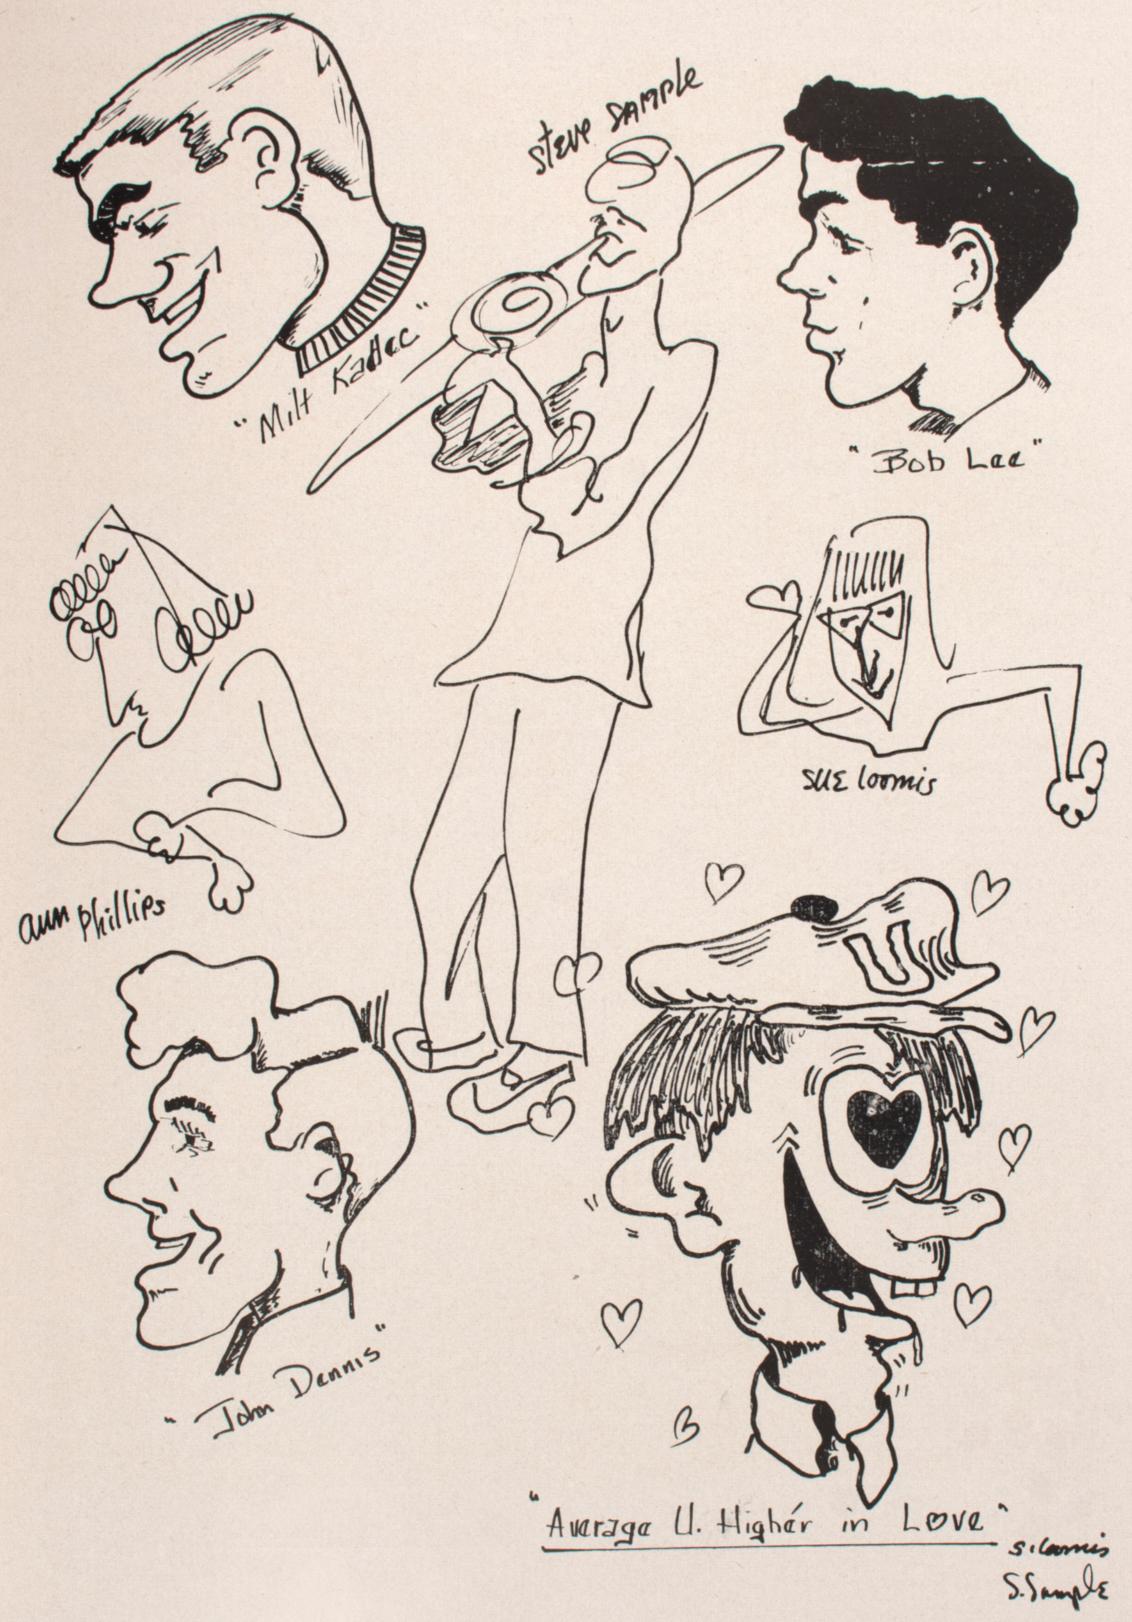

Again this year there was a cider and doughnut reception in the Metcalf gym after the game. This is fast becoming one of the outstanding features of homecoming for both U. High and alums.

And then came the dance—a perfect end to the day. McCormick gym was suddenly transformed into Davy Jones' Locker—yes, it was an underseas theme complete with seaweed and sea urchins. A false ceiling of variegated hues completed the scene of a deep sea. And with the music "wafting over the waves" everything was complete. The crowning of the queen by Patty Reed also added an impressive note. This was one dance enjoyed by everyone present.

Much of the credit for this success goes to the committee chairmen and those working under them. Decoration was headed by Joan Mercier, furnishings by Ida Jane Canerdy, tickets by Bob White, invitations by Patsy Anderson, publicity by Peggy Theivagt and clean-up by Jack Stiegelmeier.

Yes, U. High has chalked up another successful homecoming!!

Sixty-nine

Well, our journey is just about completed but wait!! Why, we can't leave you without adding a few of those spicy, choice bits of humor which have so livened up the year. So here goes—

SO WE'VE HEARD—

Emunds Rolley knows the answers in chemistry before his teachers.

Don Campbell has a strange liking for pickles!! The lost and found department would go out of business if it weren't for Patty Reed's glasses.

Bill Dorn and Bob Lee are experts at decorating Christmas trees.

Frances Coan can't be stopped once she starts reciting poetry—heee!!

Jack Stiegelmeier's coupe is rather crowded when eight or more ride in it!

Jayne Olson has "excellent" posture in chorus!

Jim Laible "isn't fit to be lived with" at the end of each semester.

Jeanette Katz is quite an addition to U. High. Connie Cornick likes to write poems in algebra class.

Connie Cornick is always hurrying somewhere. Elsa Roehm's favorite subject is chemistry (?).

Alice Stoik prefers Irish setters to any other kind of dog.

The group having lockers on the south wall next to the nurse's office always drop things behind their lockers.

To be in style just get your arm in a sling.

Another fashion note—this one for fellas—to be in the swing of things—"collars, up—please!" Tom O'Connell really looked snappy on the Chicago history trip—the hat, you know.

Helen Priest believes in backward sewing machines.

John Mahan's licorice candy?

The Rolley boys' new found interest in girls.

Bill Babbs' financial plans?

Jerry Wack and "those hats"?

Marilyn Mercherle's giggling?

Ann Phillips' persuasiveness?

Sue Loomis, Sr.'s ability for creating things?

JUST A BIT OF HUMOR—

Miss Alexander: "Nancy, will you please give a report tomorrow?"

Nancy Curtiss: "Oh, I believe not. Some other day, maybe."

Steve Sample reminiscing: "Ah yes, and there was that time in California—I was playing the Warsaw Concerto but the fog got so heavy that I had to put in six bars of "Glow Worm" so that I could see the keys!"

TWENTY-THIRD PSALM OF STUDY HALL

The head monitor is my conscience; I must not talk. He maketh me to sit down; he telleth me there are already three on the floor. He telleth me the whispering must stop, threateneth to send me to the office. Yea, though I trieth forever, I cannot keep still; my tongue waggeth on; the threats cometh faster; my doom lieth only across the hall. He preparest a seat for me away from my friends; he telleth me I may yet land in the office. Surely misery and gloom will follow him all the days of his life, and he will regret his brutality forever.

WHAT WOULD U. HIGH BE WITHOUT—

Freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors (Intelligent aren't we!!!)?

Carolyn Ditchen's gum chewing?

Those Buchholz sisters?

Helen A. Dick and the "new look"?

Nancy Curtiss' title given to her by Howard Schwartz—"Miss Pilgrim"?

Patty Young's knitting?

Betty Garlock's enthusiam for football?

Harry Stillman's ambitions to be a mortician?

Gordon Schroeder and Raymond Goetsch—the camera fiends?

Connie Cornick's conscience?

Helen Jefferson and the boys?

Virginia Blevins in the first hour study hall?

The famous Jolson-Crosby team?

Ralph Ellerbrook, "the pest of the freshman class"?

Marlene Leach and her giggle?
Kay McDonald's habit of borrowing pencils?
The Jefferson convertible?

The crowd on the second floor steps of Metcalf morning and noon?

Danny Oborn and his violin?

Martha TenEyck and her musical ability?

Louise Whittinghill's logic?

Ray Maloney's interest in Lou Gehrig books?

Creative dancing(!!)?

Keith Cluts and his ice-cold cokes?

The mad rush for U. S. History books?

FROM THE PEWS OF OUR POETS—

"Bah, Bah, Bah" is his tune, He sings it morning and noon!! Who is this very talented man? Why Ted Smith, the Crosby fan.

Nancy Stevens was new this year,
But to us she's very dear!
We think she's really quite a lass,
And we're glad to have her in our class.

We're sure you've heard of Patty Reed, In school or clubs she's bound to succeed. This year the student council she led In whatever she does, she gets ahead.

His eyes are so big and brown
He's quite a hit around this town.
Yes, Joe Edwards is really quite a guy.
But the questions he asks, oh my, oh my!!

A boy that quite appeals to me.

A boy that quite appeals to me.

A boy that doesn't always wear

A slab of grease upon his hair.

A boy that wears no silly grin

A boy that keeps his shirtail in

But boys are loved by fools like me

For who would want to date a tree.

WHY WE REMEMBER—

Miss Stroud—Her understanding and tact
Mr. Bey—his sense of humor (!!!)

Miss Jessa—her black board illustrations of problems

Miss Huggins—"Oh, those jokes!!"

Mr. Moore—his long explanations

Miss Williams—"Ah, that dramatic reading!"

Mr. Dalluge—his help on chemistry tests

YES, AND WE'LL MISS—

Patty Martin's neatness and fussiness about keeping her saddle shoes sparkling white.

Nancy Fearheiley's schedule crammed with notes to remind her of things she promptly forgets.

Frank Abbott's greeting to Norma Jean Hanell
—"Hey rube!"

Bob Lee's clacking heels.

Barbara Browne's locked (?) locker!

Howard Schwartz's untiring efforts to better study halls.

George Harris' wonderful sense of humor.

Kay Davis' love of chemistry.

Pat Darcy's hard work in U. High Organizations.

Bill Bunting's lab experiments.

Peggy Theivagt's artistic abilities.

Erma Steele's debating abilities.

Patsy Anderson's sweet personality.

Yes, seniors you'll be missed one and all.

Graduation time for some and just the end of a school year for others, but nevertheless our journey is over for the year. We've tried to give you at least a bird's eye view of the past nine months, and we hope we've succeeded. It turned out to be a lot of work and fun at the same time. With a tear in our eye, we've had to say goodbye to a group of wonderful seniors, but next fall there'll be another promising class taking their places. So until next year......so long—we'll be seeing you then.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Every year there are certain people who help make this Clarion possible. These people aren't on the staff and yet they give their assistance gladly and willingly. We greatly appreciate the help of Camera Craft Studio, Kane Engraving Company, the University Press, and Stappenbeck Bindery. We also wish to thank Mrs. Mary Parker, Miss Mildred Fry and Mrs. Winifred Schlosser, the librarian, for all the time and effort they have spent in helping us solve our problems. Yes, thanks for helping us in our journey through U. High.
